BIBLE READING PLAN

Dear friend,

A number of years ago, Gateway began publishing this Bible reading plan to encourage the members of our church and people generally to read the Bible. As the very first Psalm says,

Blessed is the man who walks not in the counsel of the wicked, nor stands in the way of sinners,
nor sits in the seat of scoffers;
but his delight is in the law of the Lord,
and on his law he meditates day and night.

He is like a tree
planted by streams of water that yields its fruit in its season,
and its leaf does not wither.

Psalm 1:1-3 (ESV)

What a beautiful picture! Imagine a luscious fruit tree gently swaying in a cool breeze, the bubbling stream nearby keeping it well watered even on the most sweltering August afternoon. Imagine yourself that must at peace, that much sustained and whole. That is the promise of God for those who “delight in the law of the Lord.”

We want that blessing for you! A Bible reading plan can help you enjoy this blessing.

This plan is not our plan. It was created by a Scottish pastor named Robert Murray M’Cheyne who lived in the first half of the 1800s. The beauty of this plan is that it has you reading some Old Testament and some New Testament each day and takes you through all the Bible (some parts more than once) in a year. This will help you to dedicate yourself to all of God’s word and to make connections between different parts of scripture.

Each day there are four passages to read. M’Cheyne encouraged his church members to read the first two in their private devotional times and the second two in their household devotional times. This might not be feasible with the busy pace of our world and the great number of us who aren’t part of households in the traditional sense, so we’ve chosen to simply label the passages “Passage 1,” “Passage 2,” “Passage 3,” and “Passage 4.”

We have made two other adjustments: We adjusted the reading plan to account for February 29 since 2024 is a leap year. Additionally, because the chapter divisions in Genesis divided the first 6 days of creation (chapter 1) from the 7th day (beginning of chapter 2), we modified the first readings to put the entire creation story in the first reading. There are, of course, other places where the traditional chapter breaks could be modified, but as this one is right at the beginning, it seemed like a good opportunity to start on a better foot.

There are many resources available to follow this plan. The Bible App from YouVersion has this plan as well as version that spreads it over two years. The Gospel Coalition has published D. A. Carson’s short devotions based on this reading plan as a podcast. Each day after reading, you can listen to a 3-5 minute devotion from one of the four passages. If you’d rather read them, you can find them written on their website, subscribe to an email newsletter, or purchase one of Carson’s two volumes titled For the Love of God.

This might not be a good plan for you. If you're new to reading the Bible, this plan might feel intimidating. If you are easily distracted, you might find it hard to keep focused on four different parts of scripture. There are other good plans. Here are a few:

Melissa Kruger recommends the 5 Day Reading Plan. You'll read through the Bible in one year by reading 3 passages each day. However, there are only five readings each week. This gives you a couple days to catch up if you miss a day's readings. Others might use those extra days to read something else in their Bible—maybe for a small group or Sunday school class. You can find the plan in digital, print, and large-print editions from the link.

The ESV Study Bible has a plan that also takes you through four pieces of scripture in one day, but it's a bit different. It focuses on four big groups of scripture: "Psalms and Wisdom Literature," "Pentateuch and the History of Israel," "Chronicles and Prophets," and "Gospels and Epistles." This might feel a bit less disjointed than M'Cheyne's plan and allows you to read the New Testament a little more slowly.

Donald Whitney has a very simple suggestion that might be helpful to you. He recommends listing each chapter of the Bible on a sheet of paper and simply crossing it off as you read it. This might feel more freeing. Some days you may read more, some days less. You also don't have to read the Bible in any particular order. Just pick a book and start reading it, and as you read, cross off the chapters.

For the easily distracted type who still likes the idea of reading this plan, you can accomplish the same amount of reading by reading 4 days of 1 column at a time. When you complete column 1, move on to column 2. We also be producing some options for those who like to see these more visually.

Another possibility? DO something completely different—but be in the Word. Let us enjoy the blessing of being those who who find our delight in God's word and experience the blessings of his peace and provision.

Shaped with you by his word,

Chris
